Church Office to reopen at noon on Wednesday, January 11

Icy conditions remain in and around the Durham area, so the church office remains closed today. Church staff are working from their homes, monitoring their email and checking voicemail throughout the day.

We plan to open the office on tomorrow (Wednesday, January 11) around noon, as conditions allow.

KUDOS to the following persons who volunteered to help spread sand and ice melt in the church parking lot last Friday afternoon: Robert Daye, Paul Cornsweet, George Kirschmann, Homer Ashby, Jane Williams, Vernon Neece, and Emily Wilkins.

Special thanks also to Kate Busa for braving the sub-freezing temps Friday morning (was suffering from bronchitis) to drop off sand and spreading tools at the church.

From the Pastor

Dear friends,

I hope that by the time you read this, the ice and snow that has kept so many of you trapped in your homes will have melted and you can get on with life as usual. I also hope that this winter weather interlude gave you a chance to play, rest, read, think, laugh, cook, sit by the fire, drink tea, and/or take a deep breath. For many of us, this time has been a gift. Let us remember, however, those for whom it has not been a gift – those who live outside, those who are alone and lonely, those who have lost income due to missed work. May we be in prayer for one another.

This Sunday, I hope you will join us for Sunday school and worship. We have many opportunities for fellowship and study at 9:45 (details of classes are below). During 11 a.m. worship we will welcome to the pulpit Dr. Timothy Tyson, author of Blood Done Sign My Name and Senior Research Scholar at the Duke University Center for Documentary Studies.

"In a fallen world marked by human depravity and deep-seated sin, in a world where Hitler and Stalin had recruited millions of followers to commit mass murder, love must harness power and seek justice in order to have moral meaning. Love without power remained impotent, and power without love was bankrupt."

– Timothy B. Tyson, Blood Done Sign My Name: A True Story

I hope you will join us on Sunday!

Grace and peace to you all,

Mindy

Added this week: Carolyn Wolfe, recovering at home from a stress fracture

Neighborhood Snow Watch

A list went out last week, which listed membership according to zip code so that we might check with one another during the recent snow storm and cold snap. If you found inaccuracies on that list, or if your name was not included, please contact the church office, so that we might add your correct information to the list. We hope this will be helpful, going forward, in taking care of one another during times of inclement weather, or otherwise. Thank you for your help.
