

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF DURHAM

"Downtown by history and by choice"

Newsletter

August 8-21, 2017

From the Pastor . . .

Dear friends,

In our summer newsletters, we have been examining six areas of Christian living: corporate worship, personal devotion, service to the world, stewardship of gifts, fellowship with others, and biblical and theological study. In the last newsletter, we looked at personal devotion. This week, we look at fellowship with others.

Recently, I have been asking church members to share three words that describe First Presbyterian Church for them. As different people have shared words, I have noticed overlap in certain areas. The words welcome and hospitality show up often, as do social-justice, justice-seeking, and peacemaking, worship and music. But the one word that shows up 95% of the time is this one: community. Members and friends of FPC feel a strong sense of community in this place. People often comment on how the people of FPC are like a second family to them. They feel welcomed and included in this place. Those who have been around for a long time have seen children grow and develop, go away and come back. Those who are new (like me!) feel welcomed into this family of faith and are quickly invited into fellowship groups and intergenerational events where they get to know one another at a deeper and more personal level. The sooner new members get involved in fellowship opportunities, the sooner they feel a deeper and longer lasting connection with the worshipping community.

We can get to know one another only so well as we sit in the sanctuary together for worship. The places we really get to know one another are the places where we play together, laugh and cry together, work side-by-side, and share meals with one another. The word fellowship in the Christian Church is translated from the Greek word koinonia, which can also mean association, community, communion, and joint participation. The more we share our lives together in koinonia, the more we are strengthened in our Christian community, our family of faith.

While some believe that coming to worship is enough to be a part of the Christian community, in truth, we grow in our faith and life best when we take the time to fellowship with one another and find the face of Christ in those around us we grow to know and love. May FPC continue to be a place that invites fellowship and nurtures community.

In love,
Mindy

NOTES:

Congratulations to Larry Peaden and Johnathan Jones who were married at FPC on Saturday, July 29. We wish them much happiness in their new life together.

Congratulations to Carolyn McAllaster for being honored with a Distinguished Chair award from Duke University. It was determined that Carolyn "has made an outstanding contribution to clinical practice and teaching in a particular field of advocacy and service". Carolyn is the founder of the Health Justice Clinic at Duke Law School, directs the HIV/AIDS Policy Clinic, and teaches a course on AIDS and the Law.

Brian and Jeanette Castle are home with their new baby, Zeke. It's been quite a journey from Zeke's adoption in Florida to their arrival back in North Carolina. Welcome home, Castles!

It's back to work/church for Sarah Finbow, FPC's youth minister, who returned from maternity leave on August 1. It is great to have Sarah (and little Sadie) back in the creative mix that keeps FPC interesting and committed to our ministry. Welcome back, Sarah!

Many thanks to the Momsen-Hudsons for hosting First Friends and Families at their home on August 5th.

From the Associate Pastor:

The Communion Line

Every Christian Church tradition highly values the importance of the Lord's Supper as sacrament or ordinance in some way. The way in which congregations distribute communion is as varied as the theologies and practices of the underlying traditions of faith. When the Miglarese first arrived at First Presbyterian in 2000, this congregation celebrated communion by passing the bread plate and small cup trays filled with the fruit of the vine, all while seated. We were delighted to see a change.

The movement from seated to the formation of a communion line to receive the elements of faith through the method of intinction was established. In this method, we all do not drink from the common cup like in some traditions, but take the bread and dip it into the cup thereby taking the wine/juice and bread at the same time. Yes, the Lord is received as our strength and nourishment no matter what method we use, but I love the communion line.

The communion line is just amazing. It is so because we commune not only with the Lord in this sacred sacramental act but also with one another and that is clearly, visibly experienced in the act of moving from pew to the Table in the presence of one another. Presiding at the Table and observing from the chancel as one of your pastors, gives me an extraordinary glimpse into the assembly of the faithful gathered around the table of the Lord. It is a privileged position. We observe college students, middle-schoolers, children of all ages, the newly married and the recently divorced, same sex couples, the elderly and the young, people of all races and genders, Catholics and Protestants, the sick and suffering, too, and yes, former priests as well.

It seems that the depth and breadth of humanity is represented in that line up for communion. It is so because all of our lives contain stories of hope even in the midst of our fears and concerns for the ones we love most. We process and walk, drawn to the one table together to eat and drink of the body and blood of our Lord. It is all a foretaste of what liturgists call the "heavenly banquet."

I pray that our communion line gets longer and longer so that more can experience the working of God in their lives. I am so grateful to walk with you in the communion line at First Presbyterian Church. Thank you.

Children (and youth) Sunday School at 9:45 in room 205

We will continue watching the movie, Moana, through August 20, and put the finishing artistic touches on our paper mache animals from the movie, Zootopia. Summer is zipping by, so come and spend some down-time with church friends of all ages before Sunday School begins, in earnest, on August 27. All are welcome!

Adults (aka Faith and Community Class):

This class meets at 9:45 in Watts-Hill Hall, and all are invited to join us.

August 6, 13, & 20, we are studying and discussing the book, Waking Up White, and Finding Myself in the Story of Race, by Debby Irving. This book is a wonderful reflective resource for those who want to do the long, hard work of personal examination on the topic of white privilege in America. It has questions for guided reflection at the end of each chapter, which lends itself well to journaling – which is recommend to everyone.

Lectionary Class (meets year-round at 9:45 in the East Parlor):

August 13: Before he was sold into slavery in Egypt, Joseph was an annoying, arrogant little brother. Was his suffering in slavery required for his spiritual growth? To ask it another way, did Peter have to sink into the sea before his faith could grow?

August 20: How can we understand God's great mercy? Because Joseph, understanding God's purpose, forgave the brothers who sold him into slavery, a family and a nation were saved. Does that mercy extend beyond the children of Israel? "God has imprisoned all in disobedience so that he may be merciful to all."

*****

Journeys Class and the Scratch/Young Adults Class are on summer break. We'll resume in the fall. You are encouraged to join another class that is meeting.

*****

Spiritual Formation: This year-round class for women is led by Susan Dunlap and explores the topic of spiritual formation. Join us at 9:45 in basement classroom B-16.

YOUTH GROUP is still on break for the summer! We will begin our evening gatherings on September 10th with our annual kick-off party!

The cost is $95 per youth. And we are looking for 2-4 adults to join our fabulous group!

Service and Mission Opportunities

Let's Organize a Faith Team

Faith Teams of The Religious Coalition for a Nonviolent Durham

Do you feel a call to serve those who live on the edges, the least among us?
Is the opportunity to work at the intersection of evidence-based practice and social justice intriguing to you?

Faith Teams are specifically developed to work with people returning from prison. We use an evidence-based practice based in Restorative Justice to substantially reduce the risk of re-offending. We do this by developing friendships that transcend race, class, and background to build the Beloved Community here in Durham.

First Presbyterian is forming a Faith Team to support someone returning from prison to the Durham community. The team will include six volunteers and meet for approximately one year, two times per month.

Training will be on September 9 from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. at the church. Please email Libby Gulley if you'd like to attend or want more information gulley@nc.rr.com.

Supporting Urban Ministries of Durham

The opportunities for serving our neighbors in need in a wonderful and tangible way at Urban Ministries are ongoing. We will be preparing and serving breakfast, and preparing lunch bags, on the following dates: Friday, August 18 (breakfast and lunch shifts), Thursday, August 24 (lunch). Please contact Margaret Rubiera at margaretmr29@gmail.com to check on availability or for more information. Many volunteers will also be needed in September — Friday, Sept 15 (breakfast and lunch), Thursday, Sept 28 (lunch), and Friday, Sept 29 (breakfast and lunch). Join the fun and make a difference in our community!

Urban Ministry of Durham's Food Pantry clients now shop with a volunteer "buddy" using reusable shopping bags, and for every reusable bag clients bring back on subsequent visits, they will get bonus food, which UMD wants to be especially healthy. You can help Urban Ministry of Durham's Food Pantry program in three ways:

- 1) Donate reusable grocery bags, new or gently used.
- 2) Donate healthier foods such as whole wheat pasta and crackers, low and no-sodium non-perishable foods, cereals without added sugar (oatmeal included), organic foods, sugar free foods, tortilla chips, salsa, coffee, teas, brown rice, spices, herbs, cornmeal, whole wheat flour, unrefined sugar, nuts, raisins and other dried fruit, muffin and pancake mixes (preferably needing just water).
- 3) Donate most needed foods. We have a huge supply of canned vegetables but need canned meat (especially chicken), pasta (dry and canned), pasta sauce, mac & cheese, rice, and shelf-stable milk.

Let's help our neighbors who don't have enough food by bringing items to FPC. The Service and Mission Committee will see that your donations are delivered to the UMD Food Pantry this summer.

Anti-Racism Education Corner

If you haven't had a chance yet, please try to visit the Race Exhibit at the Natural Sciences Museum in Raleigh. Here's a brief description: "What does the word "race" mean to you? Interactive exhibit components, historical artifacts, iconic objects, compelling photographs, multimedia presentations, and attractive graphic displays offer visitors to RACE an eye-opening look at its important subject matter. RACE tells the stories of race from the biological, cultural, and historical points of view offering an unprecedented look at race and racism in the United States."
